HARGIS TRIAL BEGINS TO-DAY

When Selection of Jury Will Be Made.

Preparations For Long and Tedious Fight.

Special Elisors to Obtain Missing Witnesses.

NO TROUBLE ANTICIPATED.

Beattyville, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—Early this morning, and long before the time for court to convene, people began crowding the courthouse, each hunting for a good position, until the house was crowded to overflowing when court opened. Little was discussed on the streets and around the hotels since court adjourned last evening, except as to whether the court would try or continue the case of Judge James Hargis.

Judge Dorsey opened court promptly at 8 o'clock and after having the orders of the previous day read, asked to hear from the Commonwealth. A. F. Byrd and B. R. Joutt, representing the Commonwealth, argued the case for continuance from the point that more than one-half of their witnesses were absent and claimed that it would be impossible to get them here in time to testify.

Speedy Trial Urged.
The defendants were represented in the argument for trial by W. A. Young and J. J. C. Bach. Each tried to impress the court with the importance to the Commonwealth and defendants, of a speedy and fair trial, and finally offered to turn over the entire transcript of evidence in the Marcum damage suit at Winchester, something refused yesterday, they the defense, claiming the transcript as the private property of James Hargis and Ed Callahan.

After the morning being almost consumed in argument, the Judge decided to appoint special elisors to be selected by both parties in the case, to obtain the missing witnesses. A large number of the absent witnesses for the Commonwealth live in Breathitt and can be brought here, it is thought, with little trouble and expense. However, several important ones live in Perry, Leslie and Letcher and it will be much more trouble to get them here by the time wanted. Many live in places remote from Beattyville, in fact, many miles from the railroad and where the roads are almost impassable. Prominent among those who are wanted by the Commonwealth is Judge L. T. Lewis, of Leslie, who tried Judge Hargis for bail a few weeks ago at Jackson. Special messenger sent for him.

Regular Docket Exhausted.
Judge Dorsey then adjourned court to meet at 1 o'clock. At the hour named Judge Riddle occupied the bench, disposing of the regular docket, preparatory to turning over the remainder of the term to Judge Dorsey, who will try the cases of Judge Hargis, Ed Callahan, B. F. French, Smith and Abner.

The selection of the jury will begin in the morning and both sides are preparing for a long and tedious trial. Both yesterday and to-day Judge Hargis maintained that indifference so characteristic of the man. He was surrounded, aside from his counsel, by his brother, Alex Hargis, Judge D. B. Redwine, Ed Callahan, O. H. Pollard, Capt. John Beatty, Judge S. P. Stamper and James W. Steele. The attorneys for the defense feel that they have at least gained a point in having the case tried at this term and while disappointment seems to be felt by the Commonwealth, everybody seems glad that the trial will come and the case will be disposed of soon.

No Fear of Trouble.
The "bad men" from both sides are all over the town and the people of Beattyville are satisfied to turn the keys over to them so long as they do not try to take the city. No trouble has been thought of, and everything has been talked of but trouble.

While all was as calm as a noon-day's sun, Tom Cockrill, walking down the main street of the town, proceeded to knock down an old man, it is said, "just for fun." He was promptly arrested by the city Marshal, and his case will be tried to-morrow. It is said the man he struck, Granville Spicer, was a cousin to and friend of Ed Callahan, yet Callahan and James Hargis were less than twenty feet from the occurrence and made no effort to interfere. Court was in session at the time, still there was a large crowd going in and out of the court rooms, carrying the news to and fro.

Pistol Shot Startles Court.
In less than half an hour afterwards a pistol shot rang out, and the court-house was almost left vacant, each thinking it meant the renewal of the trouble of Cockrill and Spicer's friends,

BRYAN WANTS TO FEEL FREE

To Speak, Write and Act As He Chooses.

Reaches London and States His Position.

State Conventions Not Bound By Their Actions.

COMPLIMENTS OTHER MEN.

London, July 3.—[Special.]—William J. Bryan arrived from New York late this afternoon. They landed at New Castle and remained there over the day, Mr. Bryan desiring a chance to quietly complete some writing. Arriving here Mr. Bryan went to the Hotel Cecil, where he soon was besieged by callers.

John Burns, William T. Stead and Mrs. Stead came early in the evening and paid an extended visit. Messrs. Bryan, Burns and Stead engaged in an animated discussion of economics, and of the Social and Labor questions. Mr. Bryan had a great mass of American mail. When he had finished reading his letters he received a delegation of newspaper correspondents and dictated the following statement:

"The first suggestion of a reception for me at New York came prior to the action of any of the State conventions, and before there was any discussion of the next campaign. It came from the Commercial Travelers' League, of which Mr. Hoge is president. I assured him I should be pleased to meet the members of the league, suggesting that the reception be characterized by simplicity."

He Must Not Be Indorsed.
"Now that the actions of some of the State conventions have raised a question as to the political significance of the reception, I am glad to say that it must not be regarded in the light of an indorsement for the presidential campaign. While I appreciate the compliment paid by the various State conventions, I do not regard their expressions as binding upon me or upon the party of my State. I shall not prosecute them for breach of promise if they transfer their affections to another. I will not even publish their letters. To allow the reception to be regarded as an indorsement, would in the first place be unjust to others who may be candidates."

Other Leading Democrats.
"I have seen the names of several mentioned as possible candidates, among them Congressman Hearst, Senator Bailey and Gov. Folk, who have all rendered conspicuous service to the party and the country, and their claims should be considered. The party is entitled to its most available man, and the question of availability cannot be determined so far in advance. Circumstances and issues may strengthen the claims of some one of the gentlemen mentioned, and the list should be an open one until the time comes to choose."

"I may add that it would not be just to me to put in the attitude of announcing my candidacy or admitting the certainty of my being a candidate. It is two years before the convention comes, and I am not willing to sit on a stool and look pretty that long. I prefer to be in a position to say what I think ought to be said, write what I think ought to be written and do what I think ought to be done. I am advancing in years and cannot spare two years out of my life at this time."

"I shall be glad to return to America, although every day of my trip has been enjoyable. I shall be glad to meet my friends in America, and after I have met them, they will be just as free as before to do what they think best on issues and candidates."

When told that Mayor George B. McClellan was in London, Mr. Bryan said he had not heard he was here. He expressed his gratification that Mr. McClellan had escaped from the Salisbury railroad wreck and said he hoped to meet him.

Speaks To-night.
Mr. Bryan will speak at the American Society dinner to-morrow night. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will spend the week and with Ambassador and Mrs. Reid at West Park, and then will go to Italy, returning here July 25, when Mr. Bryan will attend the inter-parliamentary conference. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will then make a tour of Scotland, going thence to France and Spain.

EXPECTS TO FIGHT TRUSTS.
Therefore Mr. Bryan Wants Them Agents To Stay Away From His Party.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The Brooklyn Eagle to-night prints the following:

"Col. William J. Bryan has written to a friend in New York concerning the proposed reception to him when he returns from Europe early in the fall."

LOCATION OF STATE FAIR

Will Be Finally Determined July 14.

Louisville and Lexington In Keen Competition.

Terms of Members Determined By Lot.

BOWLES DRAWS SHORT TERM.

Frankfort, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—The Kentucky State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration, appointed by the Governor ten days ago under provisions of an act of the General Assembly, effected an organization here to-day and adopted a resolution providing that it will on Saturday, July 14 next, at noon, receive from the cities and towns of the State bids for either the temporary or permanent location of the State Fair, which the Assembly placed within control of the body. Only the cities of Louisville and Lexington were represented at the meeting of the board, and members of the body are of opinion that no other cities will make offer for the fair.

State Agricultural Commissioner Vreeland, by virtue of his office as chairman of the board, presided over to-day's meeting, and Prof. M. Scovel, State Entomologist, of Lexington, was elected secretary, he being also ex-officio member of the board. Senator J. W. Newman, of Woodford county, author of the bill creating the board, was present, and by designation drew the lots to determine the length of service of each member, the law providing that the service of the members, one from each Appellate district, shall range from one to four years. In the drawing Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, drew the longest term, that until 1910. The other members drew as follows: W. B. Harris, of Union county, to 1907; Lawrence Jones, of Louisville, and William Addams, of Cynthiana, to 1908, and W. R. Mooreman, Jr., of Breckinridge county, to 1909. William Addams, Prof. Scovel and Lawrence Jones were directed to draw up the rules to govern the State Board, and Messrs. Vreeland, Scovel, Jones, Bowles and Mooreman were designated to make the classification of the catalogue for the fair, if one is held this fall.

Board Favors Fair.
It was the unanimous sense, so expressed by the resolution, of the State board that a fair shall be held if possible, beginning September 15 next, the dates assigned to Kentucky by the National Fair Association, but opinion was much divided as to whether the permanent home of the State Fair should be selected within the next ten days or should be postponed until every city and town in the State has had an opportunity to be heard if they desire to make a proposition to the State board. Only the cities of Louisville and Lexington were represented before the board to-day. Both delegations were given a chance to be heard. The representatives of Lexington urged action upon the question of permanent location within the next ten days, while the representatives of the commercial bodies of Louisville asked that snap judgment be not taken, but that, if advisable, the fair be temporarily located for this year, and the selection of the permanent site be delayed until November next, to give all cities an opportunity to get an expression of the people on the question of bidding for it. The Louisville representatives, through W. L. Danforth, stated that it is their purpose to ask for the fair this year, and for the permanent location at the metropolis of the State, while Lexington representatives declared that they wanted to make just one bid, that for the permanent location in time to hold this year's fair. In the Louisville delegation were Charles B. Norton, John J. Telford, W. E. Ambrose, R. C. Watkins and W. T. C. Cross, representing the Commercial Club, the Board of Trade, the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association and the Retail Merchants' Association. Joseph Porter was the spokesman for the Lexington delegation, which was made up of County Judge Frank Bullock, Representative William Kirk, Louis Desognets, John Skeln, Joutt Shouse, Leonard Shouse, James Reed, John Woods and John Cramer.

No "Leap Year" Desired.
In presenting Lexington's side of the contest, Mr. Porter stated that the best interest of the State demand that the State Fair be not discontinued for a single year, and that it is more important that the fair be held this year than that it should go to a special community or city. He said that his city wants the fair permanently located there, and is willing to enter into competition with any other city or cities in Kentucky to secure it. He said that in his opinion the cities and towns had

No "Leap Year" Desired.
In presenting Lexington's side of the contest, Mr. Porter stated that the best interest of the State demand that the State Fair be not discontinued for a single year, and that it is more important that the fair be held this year than that it should go to a special community or city. He said that his city wants the fair permanently located there, and is willing to enter into competition with any other city or cities in Kentucky to secure it. He said that in his opinion the cities and towns had ample information if they desired to enter for the fair, as the law was adopted ninety days since and all knew that the board would be appointed and ask for propositions. He said that Lexington has prepared, and that in doing so she has not taken snap judgment on any other city or town of the State. He thought ten days ample time for the cities to arrange their proposals for the fair to be submitted to the State Board. He was backed up in what he said by Mr. Breckinridge, of the board, who demanded to know if Louisville would ask for the fair this year if she could not get the permanent location. To this Mr. Jones, for Louisville, stated that he would personally give the $10,000 bond required for that city to take the fair for this year.

Louisville Natural Choice.
In speaking for Louisville Mr. Danforth declared that he didn't believe any other city than Louisville should be chosen. He declared that the people of Louisville have the kindest feeling for Lexington, but that the fair is not to be a local affair, and that if it grew to the proportions of a fair of other States, particularly the Indiana State Fair, no other city than Louisville could accommodate the great crowds which would gather in attendance. He also spoke of the shipping facilities of the Louisville and of the great importance to the fair that it be well located in this regard. He said that the commercial bodies of Louisville were anxious to come into competition with the bodies of other cities in this matter, but that they could not arouse the sentiment and get up their proposition within ten days, or even a week or two longer. The motion to allow but ten days had been proposed by Mr. Harris, of the board, and, seeing that the sense of the members was against delay, Mr. Danforth suggested that the matter of location be taken up by the board on Saturday, the 14th inst., instead of the 12th inst., as suggested by the member.

No Snap Judgment.
Mr. Jones strenuously objected, as did Mr. Bowles, to attempting to settle the permanent location within ten days. He declared that such a date would be taking snap judgment on Louisville, as it had just taken up the proposition, whereas Lexington had been in the contest for months, even before the law was adopted. Mr. Bowles declared that he thought the board owed it to the people of the State to take ample time to give every city a chance to make a proposal. Mr. Breckinridge thought Louisville, or any other city should be ready in ten days' time, as did Mr. Scovel. Mr. Jones insisted on his amendment to settle the permanent location next November. The amendment received the votes of Mr. Jones, Commissioner Vreeland, and Mr. Bowles. Against it Messrs. Scovel, Mooreman, Harris, Breckinridge and Addams cast their votes. Mr. May was not present. This defeated the proposition of Mr. Jones, and the board then adopted the motion of Mr. May, which was to make a proposal for the temporary and permanent location, both or either, be received by the board. This gives Louisville an opportunity to offer for the fair this year, and then ask for further time to prepare her bid for the permanent location.

LOUISVILLE, BY ALL MEANS.
Hardship If Fair Goes To Any Other City In State.
Rush C. Watkins, who was a member of the committee that went to Frankfort yesterday, said last night: "In taking into consideration what a permanent State Fair means and that its purpose is to bring together the farmers and breeders of the entire State as well as inviting those of the neighboring States to participate, there can be no question as to the location which by all means should be Louisville."

"A few suggestions will substantiate this. Louisville has unsurpassed hotel accommodations at from $1 per day up. It has direct railroad lines instead of connecting roads, as in the case of the State, thereby insuring better rates for passengers and freight. Sufficient ground can be obtained in either South or West Louisville, with street cars, water and lighting facilities. It must be remembered that all these advantages are necessary to insure the interest, development and the success which we must have in this State—that other States have experienced. In my opinion it will be a hardship and an added expense to all middle and West Kentucky territory for the permanent State Fair to be located at Lexington."

OPEN RAID ON FRENCH LICK

Accompanies Filing of Red-Hot Suit.

Gov. Hanly Takes In West Baden, Too.

Says Conduct of Gambling Forfeits Charters.

CAPTURES PARAPHERNALIA.

Paoli, Ind., July 3.—The State of Indiana, acting through Attorney General Charles Miller on instructions from Governor Hanly, to-day filed quo warranto proceedings in the Orange county circuit court against the French Lick Springs Hotel Company and the West Baden Hotel Company asking that their charters as corporations be revoked, that they be enjoined from permitting gambling on their properties, that receivers be appointed and that administration of the assets be made among the defendants and their creditors.

The suits are based on the charges that the hotel companies have allowed gambling to take place in their casinos.

An Accompanying Raid.
At the same time that the suits were filed here local officers headed by Sheriff Maris, Deputy Sheriff Jones, Constable Baggerly and City Marshal Salice raided the two casinos at the hotels, arrested the attendants and captured a large amount of gambling paraphernalia, including nineteen slot machines. The operations were directed personally by Attorney General Miller.

The entire party was brought from French Lick and West Baden to this place this evening and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace James D. Gillum. The gambling furniture was taken in charge by deputies.

A hearing on the suits for injunctions and receiverships will be held Thursday. Thomas Taggart, Chairman of the Democratic Committee, is president of the French Lick Springs Hotel.

The officers found a number of guests playing keno at West Baden. One guest jumped through a window, but the place was surrounded. None but the attendants were arrested. T. G. Deery, the manager of the casino at French Lick, was arrested. No one was playing when the officers arrived. The Colonial hotel at West Baden was raided also and some gambling paraphernalia secured. Roulette and faro tables were found at all places.

Charter Violation Alleged.
The complaints against the French Lick Springs Hotel Company and the West Baden Hotel Company are practically the same. In each complaint it is alleged that the defendant company has violated its charter.

In the French Lick complaint, after describing the hotel property and casino, the complaint says:

"Men, women and children and said hotel people do then and there game and gamble and make bets and wagers on games of chance on the result of speed and skill of man and beast furnished and exhibited, registered and recorded therein; and large numbers of boys and girls between the ages of ten and eighteen years visit that casino and are there permitted to, and do gamble for money on the slot machines, at which they are permitted to play nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and dollars in money."

"Said children are also permitted to, and do visit the second floor of said casino, where the roulette tables and wheels and klonidke games, faro tables and bookmakers' tables and other gambling devices are kept exhibited and run, and where large sums of money are wagered, won and lost by the people there congregated, openly and in plain view of said children, and said children are also permitted to mingle and associate with the gamekeepers, bookmakers and gamblers, as well as the better class of people there assembled, all with the knowledge, permission and connivance of said defendant, its officers, managers, agents and employees."

REGULAR BOMB-MAKING PLANT FOUND IN SEATTLE.
Follows Departure of Alleged Owner To Germany On Emperor's Trail.

Seattle, Wa., July 3.—After an investigation, begun at the investigation of the German Government, the police yesterday raided the house formerly occupied by August Rosenberg, a German bricklayer, and found a plant equipped for making bombs and infernal machines, and found a number of men, known as a man of anarchist tendencies, left Seattle for Hamburg, Germany, on May 1. At about that time the German government received a warning from Seattle that an attempt would be made to assassinate the German Emperor.

The German Consul at Seattle subsequently received a telegram from Hamburg instructing him to investigate. The finding of the plant followed. The articles seized included more than 200 bottles of acids and explosives, crucibles, mixers, moulds, a furnace and a large quantity of scrap iron.

HAS CONDUCTED UPRISINGS.

St. Petersburg, July 4.—(Special.)—A meeting of the cabinet called by Premier Goremykin after his return from his visit to Emperor Nicholas at Peterhof, began at 10:30 o'clock last night, the ministers having been unable to assemble during the day, and continued until late into the night.

No authoritative announcement of the reason for the calling of this extraordinary midnight conference or its decisions is obtainable at this moment, but there is little doubt it was connected with the change in the ministry, though individual ministers declined to admit that explanation.

Hints dropped by Constitutional Democratic leaders indicate that overtures for their participation in a ministry, but there is little doubt it was connected with the change in the ministry, though individual ministers declined to admit that explanation.

When it was announced that another ballot would have to be taken in order to decide the tie between Mr. Abram and Mr. Rutledge, C. Hill of the lower board, made a brief speech in which he declared his allegiance to Mr. Rutledge. He spoke of him in the highest terms, and said he was one of the best fitted men for the office in Louisville.

Dr. R. B. Gilbert, of the upper board, declared his intention to vote for Mr. Abram. He made a brief speech in which he set forth that Mr. Abram was one of the most highly respected business men on Main street. He said that he had served as a director of the Louisville Gas Company for years, and that he had proved his fitness for the office.

The second vote resulted in the election of Mr. Abram by a vote of fifteen to nine. A communication from C. J. Klein, superintendent of terminals of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, was presented in the lower board and read.

The communication had to do with the resolution offered recently by Councilman Reichert, calling for an abatement of the locomotive whistle nuisance.

Mr. Klein explained why whistles were sounded by train crews when approaching several crossings, and concluded his communication with the statement that the company was ready at all times to obey the law.

An ordinance requiring that license numbers be carried conspicuously on all automobiles passed the lower board. In the upper board an ordinance providing that property owners must be notified by the Board of Public Works before the work of construction need be commenced, was introduced and referred.

Pay rolls for June were approved, and a number of ordinances of minor importance were passed.

A resolution calling upon the Mayor to explain by what authority the city had purchased property on Oak street opposite the proposed viaduct was reported in the upper board and adopted.

The lower board adopted a resolution calling upon the Mayor to investigate the reasons for the city purchasing the Caldwell property for park purposes.

Mr. Miller moved to dispense with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, which were read and approved.

An ordinance providing for the improvement of the street in front of the city hall, which, if passed, will require the Board of Public Works to notify property owners of the proposed improvement.

RE-ELECTED.

City Directors of Gas Company Retain Office.

W. J. ABRAM WINS OVER ARTHUR RUTLEDGE.

SUPT. KLEIN TELLS WHY WHISTLES ARE BLOWN.

MUCH ROUTINE BUSINESS.

W. H. Edinger, George Gaubert, J. A. Shuttlesworth and W. J. Abram were re-elected directors of the Louisville Gas Company at a joint meeting of both boards of the General Council held at 8 o'clock last night.

Charles F. Taylor, who was elected president pro tem of the upper board, presided over the joint session. Five names were placed in nomination, and it required a second vote to determine whether the name of W. J. Abram or Arthur Rutledge should be dropped, they having received the same number of votes on the first ballot.

After the nominations were closed, a vote was taken, which resulted in W. H. Edinger receiving twenty-three votes; George Gaubert twenty-one votes; J. A. Shuttlesworth, twenty-one votes; W. J. Abram, seventeen votes, and Arthur Rutledge, seventeen votes.

FOUND GUILTY.

Ben Stuart Sentenced For Eleven Years

FOR THE KILLING OF JAMES M. STRADER.

BROTHER WHO TRIED TO HELP HIM ESCAPE.

ADmits GUILT AND IS FINED.

Lexington, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—Ben Stuart was found guilty to-day of the murder of James M. Strader, and his punishment fixed at confinement in the penitentiary for eleven years. His attorney announces that there will be no appeal, and the prisoner will soon begin his term.

The case was given to the jury at 1:40 o'clock yesterday evening, and as they had reached no decision at 1 o'clock last night they were permitted to retire and took up the case again this morning, finally bringing in a verdict at 11:41 o'clock.

The verdict is regarded as a compromise. At one time six jurors voted for the death penalty. The first ballot showed two for hanging, four for life imprisonment and the other six for different minor terms of imprisonment. In the next to the last ballot eleven voted for nine years, and one for twelve years. A compromise was then agreed to and a verdict given for eleven years.

The case attracted more attention in this vicinity than any similar trial for some time. James Strader was one of five brothers, the other four being W. P. Joseph, Stuart and B. S. Strader, all of whom are prominent in the business life of Lexington. About three months ago James Strader, who was a cripple, was hunting for a place to live in a reservoir, and it is said, had fired several shots at the game. Stuart, who was a brother of the victim, was charged with aiding him to escape, it being alleged that he had smuggled a box of cartridges in a cake to his brother in jail. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Survives Electric Shock.

Although an electric current of 500 volts passed through the body of Henry Crouch to-day and partly paralyzed him temporarily, he escaped with no worse injuries than a badly burned hand and abdomen.

Mr. Crouch is foreman of the construction of the electric line extending from Lexington to the city, and was on duty to-day when the accident occurred. He was standing on the roof of a car when the wires on the car could pass. One end of the wire slipped from his grasp and touched him, causing a severe electric shock and sending the car hurtling through him.

He fell upon his stomach on the other side, and while the upper part of his body was paralyzed for a moment, his legs were left free and by kicking violently he managed to get to the ground. His clothes and portions of his body were burned, but he received no serious injury.

Engineer Howard K. Bell and several assistants, including Charles H. Stoll, Jr., and the city engineer, Magistrate L. D. Payne, left here this morning for Elmdorf, New Mexico, where they will assist in the work of surveying and mapping the land to be purchased by C. H. Stoll at that place. The land is situated on the Grande river, which it is believed will render it easy to irrigate the whole of the tract.

All plans for Lexington's celebration of the Fourth of July have been completed for the day after tomorrow. The parade of floats representing the business interests of the city, the "tag-and-bob-tail" procession, will be the feature of the morning in the city. In the afternoon at the Fair Grounds Prof. Haddock will give an exhibition of his monster air ship, while a number of fabled shows will also give exhibitions.

The plans for the evening of the business houses will be closed for half and many of them for the whole day.

Jury Commissioners Named.

In the Circuit Court to-day Judge Parker appointed James W. Stoll, John H. Cole and Victor K. Dodge as jury commissioners for the ensuing year.

John R. Charlesworth, a well-known newspaper man of Lexington, was admitted to the Fayette bar. Mr. Charlesworth, having practiced his profession in Texas, Commonwealth's Attorney Allen made the motion.

The following petit jury was empaneled for the day: J. W. Downing, B. H. Beard, Buford A. Graves, John M. Taylor, W. B. Smith, J. D. Clark, Frank G. Ott, John Johnson, C. H. Graves, W. M. Fields, Jr., J. W. Nelson, Roger Garman, J. J. Lyle, J. L. Walker, George W. Gray, J. P. Pemberton, S. A. Glass, George C. Prather, W. H. May, Frank Christian, James H. Bean and C. H. Daugherty.

Cleaver Parrish, colored, charged with stealing a pocketbook containing $23.50 from Mrs. Victor K. Dodge, was found guilty of grand larceny and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The defendant was an ex-convict, and he stole the purse while Mrs. Dodge was sitting at a table.

The case against Ed O'Day, charged with the murder of Jesse Johnson, was postponed until Thursday.

Charles Terry pleaded guilty to forgery in the name of W. N. Cropper to a commodity in receipt of trade. District Commissioner West to-day called the attention of the corporation counsel to action under any other cities in the alleged illegal operations of the dealers, an asked to be informed whether developments here warranted action should be initiated by the Federal or the municipal authorities.

The scaffold on which James Pearsall, colored, is being put in place in the jail-yard. The scaffold is expected to be taken place about 3 o'clock. Pearsall has been put in the cell for the condemned and a death watch placed over him.

Death of Postmaster Lester.

Cadiz, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—James Lester, postmaster at this place, died at 8:15 o'clock this morning of consumption of the stomach, after an illness dating back about three months. Mr. Lester was about sixty years of age and leaves a widow and two young sons. He had been postmaster here for nearly nine years.

QUESTION

How White's Life Can Get Before Jury.

ONLY DIRECT OFFENSES ARE LEGAL EVIDENCE.

NEW YORKERS NOT PREJUDICED RAISE POINT.

NEW WORK AMONG THE POOR.

New York, July 3.—[Special]—The dramatic shooting of Stanford White by Harry Kendall Thaw on the Madison Square garden last week remains for the time being the topic of the hour in New York. No tragedy since that in which Edwin Fisk, a partner of Jay Gould, their quarrel being also a woman, has created such a sensation. Most of the newspapers continue to devote columns not so much to the actual shooting, but rather to all sorts of stories, many of which perhaps are responsible of the moral feelings of Stanford White. The staff writers of Mr. Hearst who wrote over Nan Patterson and others, are now doing the same to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the woman in the present case and from a reading of all the stuff placed not alone by the American and Journal, but also in other papers, it might be easy for the layman reader to imagine that when the murder trial takes place, it will be more of an investigation into the life of Stanford White than anything else.

Under the defense of emotional insanity, the attorneys for Thaw hope to get this matter before the jury. The theory of the defense is that Thaw was insane when he fired the shot, but sane afterwards. Why the insanity should be the defense, is due to the fact that if any other plea of insanity were made and accepted, the jury would be directed to find Thaw guilty of directing public attention to such a person in general and may not doubt create sentiment for a change in the law. Just why a man who is sane should be held in every day life should only be held otherwise after he committed a crime, renders our entire system of justice a farce. The plea is even made more ridiculous in the present case, when one considers that Thaw was sane at the time of the murder, as normal as any other man and was cool and collected after the shot was fired.

BROKEN RIB.

Mrs. Sneed's Fate In High-land Road Mashup.

OTHERS INJURED ABLE TO GO TO THEIR HOMES.

TWO NEW SCHOOLS FOR NEW ALBANY TOWNSHIP.

DR. FOREMAN POISONED.

The five persons, Harry Pierce, Grant Morrison and Pat Conley, of New Albany, and Misses Minnie Sneed and Elizabeth Fulton, of Louisville, injured in the Highland railway accident at New Albany, Monday night, are rapidly improving. Mr. Pierce, whose injuries were more severe than the others, was taken to his home on the Silver Hills yesterday afternoon in an ambulance; Grant Morrison went home Monday night after having had his injuries dressed; Patrick Conley left the hospital yesterday considering himself able to go about and Misses Sneed and Fulton will be taken to their homes in Louisville to-day.

It is believed that Miss Sneed sustained a fracture of one of the ribs on the right side, although it was thought at first that she had suffered only a slight bruise; Miss Fulton's injuries consist of a scalp wound and a gash on the left cheek. The young women were going to the Silver Hills to spend the Fourth of July holiday at the home of Miss Sneed's aunt, Miss Fanny Flusser, who is under treatment at St. Edward's City Hospital, New Albany.

Monday night, after the accident, the debris was cleared away, the frame portion of the car having been burned, while the trucks and other iron work were dragged to the side of the embankment and sent to the shops of the traction company.

HEADLESS TRUNK.

Found In River Two Miles Below West Point.

MAY LEAD TO EXPLANATION OF MYSTERY.

FINDING OF HEAD TWO MONTHS AGO RECALLED.

DETECTIVES TAKE UP CASE.

The finding of a headless trunk of a human body was reported yesterday morning to Dr. Harris Kelley, the coroner, by Ivo Monroe, a farmer of Jefferson county, who lives two miles above West Point, on the Ohio river. Monroe says that the body was first discovered by his brother, Tom Monroe, Sunday morning, at the edge of the river along his place. Since he was unable to communicate with Dr. Kelley by telephone Sunday night, Mr. Monroe drove to the city Monday night and appeared at Dr. Kelley's office in the Courthouse early yesterday morning.

After obtaining an accurate description of the body, the coroner expressed the opinion that the body was the one from which the head, which was found about two months ago at Western Park, was severed.

According to Mr. Monroe, the body was badly mutilated. The head, legs and arms were severed from the body, probably with a sharp instrument, since the cuts were very clean, and the flesh was torn from the body so that it is impossible to say whether the victim was a man or woman. According to the size of the frame, the person apparently was of small stature.

Much excitement prevails in the neighborhood on account of the finding of the trunk and the theory of murder is believed. Because the body is so badly cut up, some of the citizens believe that the gruesome deed was committed by medical students who probably had gained possession of the body and had thrown it into the river after dissecting it. Since no body was reported missing from the neighborhood, the body evidently had floated from a point some distance up the river.

Dr. Kelley has requested the detectives to begin an investigation, and has sent D. L. Bax, undertaker, to take charge of the body. The first thing to be determined, the detectives say, is whether or not the head, which was found two months ago, was severed from this trunk. This head, which was discovered by Fred Keller, a fisherman, was examined by several physicians who said it was that of a man of small stature.

The body was taken to Bax's undertaking establishment last evening at 7:15 o'clock.

MARCUS BROOKBANK DIES IN JEFFERSONVILLE HOSPITAL.

STOPPED IN LOUISVILLE BY CHANCE IN 1856.

PROMINENT IN BUSINESS FOR MANY YEARS.

RETIRED THREE YEARS AGO.

Marcus Brookbank, who was for years one of the best-known business men in Jeffersonville, died at Mercy Hospital in that city yesterday morning of softening of the brain, which resulted from Bright's disease, a malady he had been afflicted with for some time. Mr. Brookbank retired from business January 1, 1902, to spend his declining days in ease, but it was not long until he began to show that he was not in good health. As the disease progressed, his mind began to fail. January 6, an inquest was held upon the body of the deceased, which was found in the Central Hospital for the Insane at Indianapolis, but the commission decided he should not be sent there and in a short time he was taken to Mercy Hospital.

Mr. Brookbank was about seventy-four years old and was a native of St. Mary's county, Md., and his early life was spent on a farm. At the age of twenty-one years he came to Louisville, leaving a home that had been in his family for 150 years. His first employment was that of a bill clerk in the office of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. He secured a position as night clerk in a short time and became bookkeeper for F. M. Jones, who conducted a housefurnishing store, remaining with him until he took a place with C. Proal, a manufacturer of saddles and harness, but returned to employment with F. M. Jones, who was with the drygoods firm of Carter & Kirby, as bookkeeper. When Louisville was reported missing from the neighborhood, the body evidently had floated from a point some distance up the river.

Mr. Brookbank was about seventy-four years old and was a native of St. Mary's county, Md., and his early life was spent on a farm. At the age of twenty-one years he came to Louisville, leaving a home that had been in his family for 150 years. His first employment was that of a bill clerk in the office of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. He secured a position as night clerk in a short time and became bookkeeper for F. M. Jones, who conducted a housefurnishing store, remaining with him until he took a place with C. Proal, a manufacturer of saddles and harness, but returned to employment with F. M. Jones, who was with the drygoods firm of Carter & Kirby, as bookkeeper. When Louisville was reported missing from the neighborhood, the body evidently had floated from a point some distance up the river.

Dr. Kelley has requested the detectives to begin an investigation, and has sent D. L. Bax, undertaker, to take charge of the body. The first thing to be determined, the detectives say, is whether or not the head, which was found two months ago, was severed from this trunk. This head, which was discovered by Fred Keller, a fisherman, was examined by several physicians who said it was that of a man of small stature.

The body was taken to Bax's undertaking establishment last evening at 7:15 o'clock.

KENTUCKY COAL.

Total Output in 1905 Eight Million Tons.

REPORT FILED BY CHIEF INSPECTOR OF MINES.

SHOWS AMOUNT DUG IN EACH COUNTY IN STATE.

COMPARISON OF FIGURES.

Frankfort, Ky., July 3.—[Special.]—Prof. C. J. Norwood, Chief Inspector of Mines and State Geologist, has prepared an interesting summary of statistics relating to the production of the commercial coal mines of the State for the calendar year 1905.

The figures annually presented by the inspector are always less than those published by the Federal bureau, since those given by the latter are supposed to cover all the coal dug, including the production of the small "country" and "neighborhood" banks as well as that of the commercial mines; while the inspectors refer only to commercial mines and mines in which over five persons are employed.

The statistics presented in the inspector's reports are compiled from monthly returns received from the mines, carefully checked in various ways. For the last three years there has been an annual difference of over 330,000 tons between the amount of commercial coal reported by the inspector and the total production of all coal reported by the Statistical Bureau of the United States Geological Survey, as shown in the following, amounts being in short tons:

Output For 1905.

According to the monthly returns made to the Mine Inspector's office, 8,588,648 short tons of coal were produced in 1905, in which were included 88,416 tons of cannel. The output of the coal for 1904 was 8,400,000 tons, as compared with 1904, were as follows:

District.	Output.
Western.	4,581,467
Southeastern.	2,957,431
Northeastern.	577,630
Total.	8,038,648

The following table shows the distribution of the product of each of the three districts:

District.	Sold Used
Western.	4,581,467
Southeastern.	2,957,431
Northeastern.	577,630
Total.	8,038,648

The figures show an increase of 871,322 tons over the output for 1904. This is the more significant in view of the fact that the output for 1904 was 30,927 tons less than that for 1903. The gains and losses of the three districts in 1905, as compared with 1904, were as follows:

District.	Tons.
Western, gain.	639,893
Southeastern, gain.	248,434
Total gain.	888,327

Net gain in 1905, 871,322 tons. In 1904 the net gain was 871,322 tons, a loss of 123,238 tons as compared with 1903, and the Northeastern one showed a loss of 191,869 tons, while the Southeastern district showed a gain of 248,434 tons. The gains and losses of the three districts, therefore, compared with 1903, have been as follows:

District.	Tons.
Western, net gain.	436,676
Southeastern, total gain.	248,434
Total gain.	685,110

Decrease in Northeast. The decrease in the Northeastern district is almost entirely due to losses in Boyd and Carter counties. Those counties, formerly the most important in the production of coal in the Northeastern district are now the least important place. The production of Boyd has fallen from 348,731 tons in 1902 to 47,658 tons in 1905, and that of Carter has fallen from 258,079 tons in 1902 to 121,161 tons in 1905. Boyd and Carter have been producing coal for the production of the district is increasing rapidly. Pike county, which entered the commercial coal in the latter part of 1903 with a very small tonnage, increased its output to 103,322 tons in 1905, which, however, is merely a hint of what may be expected in the coming eighteen months; many mines now opened in the county but not fully equipped will become large producers. Floyd county entered the list during the present year, and with the Southwestern extension of the Lexington and Eastern railway, which appears to be assured for the near future, at least as far as the vicinity of Hazard, Perry county will become an important contributor of commercial coal, and the output of Breathitt will be increased.

Selling Value of the Coal.

The total selling value of the commercial product (bituminous and cannel), at the mine, amounted to $7,810,154, yielding an average of 97.15 cents per ton. The average value of the cannel was $2.471 at the mine, that of the bituminous alone was 95.51 cents per ton. The spot value per ton of the bituminous product for each district was as follows:

District.	Tons.
Western.	4,581,467
Southeastern.	2,957,431
Northeastern.	577,630
Total.	8,038,648

Compared with prices obtained in 1904, the bituminous figures show a loss of 8.00 cents for the aggregate of all districts. By district they show a loss of 3.31 cents in the average price obtained in the Western district; a loss of 4.41 cents in the Southeastern district, and a gain of 7.45 cents for the Northeastern one.

Outward Shipments.

Of the total amount of coal shipped from the mines, $2.82 per cent. went to other States. The amounts shipped out of the State by each district, with the percentage relation they bore to the total shipments from the mines, were as follows:

District.	Total.	Per cent.
Western.	4,581,467	54.28
Southeastern.	2,957,431	35.56
Northeastern.	577,630	7.16
Total.	8,038,648	100.00

Machine-Mined Coal.

Nearly 55 per cent. of the output for 1905 was mined by machines. Machines are supposed to cover all the coal produced by the twenty-five counties that produced commercial coal. The total number of machines used was 561, of which 323 were punchers, two were cutters (driven by air), and 126 were electric chain cutters. Although the number of punchers exceeds that of the electric chain cutters, the latter were used by about the same number of men. The amount of coal mined by machine in each district, together with the percentage relation of the product of the coal to the total product of the district, was as follows:

District.	Total.	Per cent.
Western.	4,581,467	54.28
Southeastern.	2,957,431	35.56
Northeastern.	577,630	7.16
Total.	8,038,648	100.00

Of the amount mined by machine, 2,287,514 tons were cut by air, and 2,135,252 tons were cut by electricity. The figures show that the use of machine-mining coal, with respect to the percentage relation its machine-mined to the total output of the district, is as follows: Western, 54.28 per cent.; Southeastern, 35.56 per cent.; Northeastern, 7.16 per cent. The figures show that the use of machine-mining coal, with respect to the percentage relation its machine-mined to the total output of the district, is as follows: Western, 54.28 per cent.; Southeastern, 35.56 per cent.; Northeastern, 7.16 per cent.

Production of Coke.

Kentucky has not yet reached the position as a producer of coke that it may confidently be expected to attain. The output by companies for 1905 was as follows:

Company.	Tons.
St. Louis & N. O. Ry. Co.	10,411
Ohio Valley C. Co.	2,405
Straight R. C. & Co.	6,639
C. & M. Co.	17,311
Total.	44,766

The figures show that the output of coke for 1905 was 44,766 tons, as compared with 1904, was 44,766 tons, as compared with 1904, was 44,766 tons.

Number of Companies and Employees.

The output for 1905 was produced by 174 companies, operating 219 mines, and employing 30,062 persons of whom 11,999 worked underground. The number of persons employed according to district, was as follows:

District.	Total.
Western.	11,999
Southeastern.	5,939
Northeastern.	1,161
Total.	19,100

On June 1, of the present year, there were 132 companies, with 245 mines, either operating or preparing to do so.

Fatal Accidents.

The pressing need there was for increasing inspection of the district of the Mine Inspector's office, which was done, by providing for two additional assistants, by the last Legislature, is in a measure being met. The following list for 1905, the largest in the record of mining in Kentucky. In the production of the coal for 1905, there were 28 fatal accidents. Following a statement of the causes and number of deaths due to each cause:

Cause.	Persons killed.
Caught by mine cars.	2
Power explosion.	5
Slip and fall.	5
Struck by falling rock.	5
Total.	19

Following is the output by individual companies, arranged according to counties, in the three districts. In some instances, changes occurred in the ownership of the mines during the year; in such cases, for convenience of present publication, the operator who was in control of the mine at the time of the accident is given, even though the larger part of the output of the mine may have been produced prior to his taking charge.

INVESTIGATION.

Ordered By Fiscal Court In Regular Session.

OFFICE OF ROAD SUPERVISOR TO BE INSPECTED.

COUNTY MAGISTRATES HAVE COMPLAINTS AGAINST DYLER.

OTHER BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS.

Upon going into executive session yesterday, the Fiscal Court took under consideration the report of the office of John Dyer, County Road Supervisor.

The matter was brought up by the motion of Magistrate Ed O'Connor to appoint a committee consisting of three members and R. W. Bingham, County Attorney, to investigate the conduct of the office. The motion was carried without dissent and Judge Wilson appointed Magistrate O'Connor, Robb and Withers to act as the committee.

The County Attorney in the investigation will begin the latter part of the week.

After the meeting various members of the court were asked as to the character of the complaint against Mr. Dyer. Magistrate after the Fiscal Court replies, generally refusing to discuss the matter. They said that in justice to Mr. Dyer nothing should be said until after the committee had reported.

"The charges," said one member, "are of a very serious nature, but we must wait until they are all in."

However, it was learned that the Magistrates, particularly those in the county outside the city, and various forms of complaint against Mr. Dyer. It was ascertained that they object to his work in the county, and that he has ignored their wishes by his alleged failure to expend upon their respective districts portions of the road appropriation, to which they say they are entitled.

It is averred that he has disregarded certain districts in favor of others. It is further urged against him by the Magistrates that he has exceeded his authority in the matter of the road appropriation.
